

Terms and Conditions for Accepting Credit Card Payments

Some credit card processors are now requiring that an underwriter review a fair's Terms and Conditions for Accepting Credit Card Payments prior to approving a fair's request for online credit card processing.

This is an example of how a fair can create a unique "Terms and Conditions for Accepting Credit Card Payments", and place it on the fair's website. Then when the fair's Online Entries site is in test mode, an underwriter can review the terms.

The link to the "Terms and Conditions for Accepting Credit Card Payments" is defined in the Online Fair Info/Uploader and is placed in position by uploading your Online Fair Default Info.